

Mrs. Dwight Rude (08-16-78):

"Laura Curtis Rude worked on the 1890 census. She worked on what were essentially the first computers."

"I have a picture of James Remsen. I'll show it to you when you [SRP and DWP] come over [to Ridge Farm]."

Note

Dwight Rude's father, William E. Rude (m. Laura M. Curtis) is one of four children (two sets of twins) born to William N. and Helen (Fritz) Rude.

The first set of twins (William E. and Alfred N.) were born on May 7, 1866. The second set of twins (Francis N. and Lenor M.) were born on June 2, 1870.

Francis N. Rude (one of the brothers of Dwight Rude's father, but not the twin brother of Dwight Rude's father, William E. Rude) is the father of Walter Rude, the husband of Laura A. Loomis.

On February 23, 1978, LALR stated:

"Walter Rude's father was Frank Rude and his mother was Martha West...but everybody called her Lily. Walter's father and Dwight Rude's father, William Rude, are brothers. Walter's sister, Helen Rude, and Dwight at one time went looking up Rudes in the cemeteries."

For a listing of Rudes interred in Green Grove Cemetery, Pleasant Mount, see p.